

EASTER SERVICES

At the Presbyterian Church Sunday morning at 11 o'clock the Sunday school will render a splendid program entitled "The Living Lord for Latin America." This program, prepared by the foreign mission board, tells in song, verse and other exercises the present needs of the sister country to the south. It is instructive as well as devotional. Sunday night the choir will render a beautiful sacred cantata, "The King Triumphant." This pretty sacred cantata, with its varied arrangement of solos, duets, quartets and choruses, gives an excellent account of the Gethsemane agony, the crucifixion and resurrection of our Lord. Some other special music will be given by the choir and orchestra. Rev. Bayless, the pastor, urges all to attend these services.

At St. Mark's church the morning service at 11 o'clock will consist of morning prayer, followed by holy communion. The usual canticle will be sung, except that "Christ Our Passover" will take the place of the "Venite." At the offertory, the choir will render "Why Seek Ye the Living Among the Dead?" Among the hymns will be No. 112, "Jesus Christ is Risen Today;" "Come Ye Faithful, Raise the Strain;" and No. 119, "At the Lamb's High Feast We Sing."

The Rev. J. C. Jackson, of Goldfield, will conduct the evening service, in the absence of the vicar. The chants will be the "Magnificat" and the "Nunc Dimittis." Among the hymns will be No. 116, "Angels Roll the Rock Away," and No. 117, "He is Risen, He is Risen." The Sunday school will have its Easter festival at 3:15 o'clock p. m. St. Mark's will also hold the three-hour service tomorrow from noon until 3 o'clock. This service consists of a series of seven meditations on the seven last words from the cross, with music between, giving an opportunity for people to come in or go out.

RUSSIAN ATTACHE SHOT IN A CLUB

MYSTERIOUS ATTACK ON NEWLY ARRIVED COURIER FROM PETROGRAD

(By Associated Press.) BALTIMORE, April 5.—Michael Borzakovsky, a commercial attache of the Russian embassy in Washington, who arrived from Petrograd eight days ago with a document for the embassy from the Russian minister of finance, was shot in the Baltimore Country Club yesterday. The count was found unconscious on the floor of the club. Friends say he was "loving" with a pistol when it exploded. One of the physicians said that the shooting was not an accident.

M. Borzakovsky arrived here Saturday from Washington after he delivered his document to the Russian embassy. It was stated that he was to remain in this country as commercial attach.

PLANNING A TUNNEL UNDER THE BOSPHORUS

(By Associated Press.) BERLIN, April 5.—German engineering experts are preparing plans for the extension of the Baghdad railway across the Bosphorus. One of the plans prepared is for a tunnel under the straits, while the other contemplated a crossing by means of a bridge 650 yards in length.

LA FOLLETTE ROASTED

on the ground of necessity; the senator from Wisconsin puts it on the same footing as Great Britain's interference with our commerce.

"I fully expected the senator from Wisconsin, before he took his seat, to defend the invasion of Belgium, the most barbarous act ever committed. I heard from him a speech that was pro-Goth, pro-Goth, pro-randall and which was anti-president, anti-Congress and anti-American. While pronouncing an eulogy on the German people he might have eulogized a very much greater, better and intelligent people—the American. His speech was exactly what might have been delivered in the German reichstag by Bethmann-Hollweg, if Bethmann-Hollweg had the audacity. But Bethmann-Hollweg has too much sense, too much knowledge to make that speech."

At this point Senator La Follette left the chamber, but remained in the cloak room a while, within hearing distance.

Continuing, Senator Williams said he heard, in imagination, the groans of men, women and children sent to watery graves by German submarines. "But the senator from Wisconsin bears none of them," said the Mississippi senator. "I have loved the Wisconsin senator in a way, until recently, but I have no patience with any man who stands up in the senate at this time applauding the common enemy, who also is the enemy of the human race, and has not one word in praise of the American president or the American people."

"If the American people can't be aroused now in patriotic fervor they are degenerate sons of noble sires. We are involved in this war now, not by Congress, but by the German Kaiser. I join the president in expressing no hostility against the German people themselves. I lived among them two years."

"The senator from Wisconsin labored to establish an identity of purpose and action in the violation of our neutral rights by Great Britain and Germany. He proved he did not know the difference between a prize court and a torpedo. Great Britain has drowned none of our citizens. I am a little tired of utterances like that of the senator of Wisconsin denouncing the entente allies. He endeavors to twist the British lion's tail. Demagogues have been doing that ever since the revolution but it is a matter of history that most of the people of England were against the war on the colonies."

"Which would you rather do, fight Germany now with France and Great Britain and Russia or fight her alone later? You've got to do either one or the other. I tell you if Germany does win that fight on the continent of Europe she will begin building and getting ready to whip us unless the English fleet prevents it."

Referring to the Wisconsin senator's statement that the United States has nothing to lose no matter which side wins the war:

"Let's see. Have we no honor, no regard for the future sovereignty of our country, no regard for our flag? Is sentiment rot? Is patriotism rot? Is there nothing precious except money?"

"I'm getting tired of this talk that this is a Wall street war. That's a lie. Wall street did not sink the Lusitania, the Arabic, the Sussex, and those other ships. I'm tired of lies like that and I think it is the duty of the American Congress and people to brand them as lies."

Senator Williams said the resolution did not propose that the United States enter the war, but that it go into an American war to protect American rights and for the sake of honor, justice, safety, liberty and equality. Once at war, he declared, the United States should stay until it became assured that the houses of Hohenzollern and Hapsburg would no longer reign in Germany and Austria, and that the Turk would be forced back into Asia.

Senator Husting, Senator La Follette's Wisconsin colleague, said that while every senator should have a mind of his own, and speak on his own convictions, yet in times like this, the conduct of international affairs must be in the hands of one man. He said he believed that if the question of "peace or war" only were submitted to the people it would be voted down. "That," he added "is not the question here. The question is 'shall the people of the United States support the president and Congress of the United States in whatever course they deem wisest and safest?' I want to say that if that question were submitted to the people they would sustain the president and Congress overwhelmingly. I would not

WOOL MEN OFFER STOCKS TO U. S.

DEALERS FEAR GOVERNMENT MAY SEIZE OUTPUT UNLESS ALL ACT TOGETHER

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, April 5.—Wool dealers of Chicago have agreed to follow the action of dealers in Boston, St. Louis and other cities and place at the disposal of the government all wool as prices current on April 2. The dealers also resolved to furnish a true inventory of all wool, wool tops, and noils owned or controlled on April 4. It was decided that the dealers would neither buy nor sell any wool for ten days, or any other period set by the committee of five appointed at the meeting to co-operate with the proper government authorities in handling the raw wool supply.

Men conversant with the wool trade said the organized dealers had decided to act for fear any mismanagement of independent dealers might cause the government to seize the entire wool output for war uses.

go on record as saying the people of my state would be disloyal and they would be disloyal if they refused to back up the president, in the course he has decided to take."

Senator M. Hardwick, of Georgia, said the war resolution might pass "not because the American people or Congress desire war, but because it is an imperative necessity."

"The people want peace, but not at the price of national honor or national safety," he said.

Senator Cummins, of Iowa, one of the 12 men who opposed the armed neutrality bill, said he believed there was another way to meet the situation, but he desired to have a united nation and therefore would vote for the war resolution.

Senator Pittman, of Nevada, said he sympathized with the mothers whose letters had been read to the senate and who would bear the burden of war.

"If it were true that it would lessen their burdens," he said, "I would weigh the insults we have suffered before I voted, but I cannot conceive they can be lessened. I would rather lose a few hundred of men in this way now, than lose millions later. We must conquer Germany or she will conquer us later."

During the early evening the crowds grew larger, the galleries filling, among the prominent spectators being Swiss Minister Ritter, now representing Germany's interests; Secretary of State Lansing; Counsellor Polk and Assistant Secretaries Phillips and Long of the state department; Solicitor General Davis and Secretary Tumulty.
